

A New Path Forward in Health Care

The “new normal in health care” should drive better health outcomes, access, and equity for Coloradans, whether they are covered by private insurance or public programs like Medicaid. It should help achieve Governor Polis’s goal of saving Coloradans money on health care, while also improving health care affordability for employers and Medicaid. It should further reduce provider burden and enhance delivery system performance. To achieve these goals, we should maximize innovations, transparency, stakeholder engagement and collaboration.
