

Dear Colleague,

I am writing to ask if you might be interested in taking a survey. The survey is about understanding how practicing behavior analysts work with clients engaging in moderate-to-severe problem behaviors. We are doing this to better understand current practices and to develop continuing education opportunities for Colorado behavior analysts. Participation is voluntary.

You may be eligible to take our survey if you are currently credentialed by the Behavior Analyst Certification Board as a BCBA-D, BCBA, or BCaBA. If you take our survey, you will be asked to respond to several questions. More information about our study can be found at the following link: Evaluating current practices credentialed behavior analysts use when working with clients engaging in moderate-to-severe problem behavior.

If you have questions or want to learn more about our survey, please contact Dr. Patrick Romani at Patrick.W.Romani@ucdenver.edu. More information about research in general can be found on the University of Colorado Anschutz Medical Campus Research Studies web page.

If you are not interested in our survey, you don't need to do anything else.

We received permission to contact you from the Colorado Multiple Institutional Review Board. The reference number for this study is #22-0181.

Thank you for your time and consideration. We look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Patrick W. Romani, Ph.D., BCBA-D
