Your right to nondiscrimination.

We've included nondiscrimination information for your county and the Colorado Department of Health Care Policy and Financing (HCPF). HCPF is the agency that oversees Colorado's medical assistance programs.

If you think your rights have been violated, you can file a complaint, which is also called a grievance. You can file your complaint with your county, HCPF, the Office for Civil Rights, or all three.

Your County

Your county has a nondiscrimination notice. You can file a complaint with your county if you think your rights have been violated.

Print your county's information as written below and attach over this box:

HCPF Nondiscrimination Notice

The Colorado Department of Health Care Policy and Financing (HCPF) does not discriminate based on race, color, ethnic or national origin, ancestry, age, sex, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, religion, creed, political beliefs, or disability. HCPF does not discriminate in employment, admission or access to, treatment or participation in, or receipt of the services and benefits under any of its programs, services and activities.

HCPF provides:

Free aids and services for individuals with disabilities to communicate effectively with us, such as:

- Qualified sign language interpreters
- Written information in other formats

Free language services for individuals whose primary language is not English, such as:

- Qualified foreign language interpreters
- Information written in other languages

If you believe HCPF has failed to provide these services or discriminated in another way, you can file a grievance with the Civil Rights Officer within 60 days of the incident. You can file by mail, phone, fax, or email. The Civil Rights Officer can also help you file the grievance. To request aids and services or to file a grievance:
