REGULATORY ANALYSIS

1. Describe the classes of persons who will be affected by the proposed rule, including classes that will bear the costs of the proposed rule and classes that will benefit from the proposed rule.

The rule update will benefit enrolled members on the Medicaid Buy-In Program for Working Adults with Disabilities that will turn 65 or older to not be terminated due to age. New applicants age 65 and older will now be able to participate in the Medicaid Buy-In Program for Working Adults with Disabilities if they meet all other qualifying criteria including disability, employment, and income limits. There are no projected negative impacts to any classes of persons with these proposed rule changes.

2. To the extent practicable, describe the probable quantitative and qualitative impact of the proposed rule, economic or otherwise, upon affected classes of persons.

The proposed rule to allow individuals to not have an upper age limit to participate in the Medicaid Buy-In Program for Working Adults with Disabilities will allow individuals to continue working and receive needed medical assistance. Individuals will not lose benefits just because they are 65 or older. This change may enhance the ability of workers with disabilities to remain in the workforce. The change may also increase opportunities for successful and dignified community living for older individuals with disabilities

3. Discuss the probable costs to the Department and to any other agency of the implementation and enforcement of the proposed rule and any anticipated effect on state revenues.

Expanding the Medicaid buy-in program to people over the age of 64 increases caseload, as most people eligible would not otherwise qualify for Medicaid due to income, asset, or age limits. This drives new expenditures, including federal funds at a 50% match rate and the Healthcare Affordability and Sustainability Fee (HAS Fee) Cash Fund funding the state share of the program in FY 2022-23 and ongoing. There is an impact from some people over the age of 64 who had previously been enrolled shifting from other Medicaid categories to the buy-in program. This results in a reduction in expenditure to General Fund, which dampens the overall costs. The
